Ward's Royal Blue Market Buys Grand Champion Steer

Gerald Weiler's Grand Champion Steer, weighing 950 pounds, was purchased by Ward Skinner of Ward's Royal Blue Market last night at the annual livestock auction.

Skinner paid 50 cents per pound for the prize animal. Premium prices were paid for many other top steer, exhibited this year.

Jeri Skinner's Grand Champion Lamb was purchased by County Commissioner Clyde Michael. The 90 pound animal sold for 50 cents per pound.

Larry Grissom's Grand Champion Hog was sold to the Third National Bank of Circleville. The hefty animal weighed 220 pounds and sold for $41.

THE auction was conducted in a fine measure of success. Many buyers were present and bidding was maintained at a steady pace. Additional purchasers placing successful bids were:

The Pickaway Grain, Pickaway BBQ, Circleville Fast Freeze, Atlanta Grain, Hick's Pleasant Corners, Fetherolf Packing Co., Ashville IGA, Circleville Savings Bank, Second National Bank, Ashville Grain, Pickaway Livestock, Scioto Grain, Laureville Grain, Bingham Drugs, Shaeffer Tires, Winner Implement, Hummel & Plam, Circleville Oil;

Beckett's, Hick's Elevator, Kochheiser Hardware, Circleville Jaycees, Hill & Nogle, Marshall Plumbing, Mac's Goodyear, Marshall Implements, Hill Implements, Dr. Paul Teegardin, Red Rose Feeds, Circleville Building & Supply, Homer Long, William Duvall, Luther Ruff, Charles Kreisel, The Armour Co., Mt. Sterling Farmers Exchange, Kenny Hannan Ford, Joe Blue; Bud Jacobs, Pickaway Pony Sales, Benny's Restaurant, Ashville Citizens Bank, Ford Furniture, The Ashville Banking Co., Lloyd Melvin and the Brown Implement Co.

Midway Memos

It was worth many thousand words, but there was no film left in the camera when we spotted a little miss, about three, stretched across two folding chairs in the livestock show building, sound asleep.

Her sandy hair was long and tumbled in taffy-strling wisps around her face, blending with the straw-covered floor and the dust drifting under unshaded lamps.

A few adults talked quietly in the far corner. No one was near her and the youngster, her mint green dress showing the wrinkles of a vigorous day on the midway, slept undisturbed.

Progress has worked its changes on almost everything traditional in American life at one time or another. The latest victim on modernization visible at the Fair is the merry-go-round.

Long a symbol of noisy gaiety during the annual exhibition, the whirling wooden horse amusement can be heard throughout the midway pumping out its gay music. Only this year, the pipes and drums have been shelved in favor of a two-unit stereo sound system. Recordings simulate the oom-pah-pah rhythm.

THAT barefoot boy who made a poet famous has evidently attended the 1961 Pickaway County Fair. Among the assortment of articles deposited in the lost-and-found division of the Fair manager's office is a perfectly wearable pair of boy's brown socks.

Pickaway County is rich in farmland, but one crop is as difficult to cultivate here as anyplace else. A small boy passing through the Coliseum last night pleaded with his mother for additional funds to finance a soda pop-and-candy expedition. The wise and hurried mother's reply: "Billy, we're going home now. Money simply doesn't grow on trees." No farmer could be found to dispute that.

Three-second thought after checking the livestock quarters at 1 a. m. — just what on earth do pigs dream about to give them that smug and mysterious expression?

A little tot, not more than four-years-old, curiously watched Mrs. William Blaney and Mrs. John Beck, dressed in pioneer costumes, making thread on the spinning wheel at the Pickaway County Historical Society's exhibit in the coliseum yesterday.

"What are you doing?" asked the little lady. The obvious answer, "Making thread," replied the pioneer women.

"My mommy buys hers uptown," commented the little modern.

"Calorie counters" have discarded their diets during the Fair in order to consume some of the treats that only a fair (and Pumpkin Show) can offer. Some of the delicacies include candy apples, cotton candy and the delicious homemade donuts at a booth at the top of the hill, near the coliseum.

Major Address Booked

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev will make a nationwide radio and television address Monday, the news agency Tass said today.

The subject of his speech was not announced, but Khrushchev told visiting Italian Premier Fanfani Thursday that he planned to reply to President Kennedy's recent address on the Berlin situation.

DiSalle Plans Assembly Call Next Month

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The legislature will be called back for a special session after Labor Day to act on a capital improvements bill, says Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

The governor told newsmen Friday he would not set a date for an extraordinary session until Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, recovers sufficiently from a minor operation.

Mechem underwent surgery in University Hospital here Thursday. Aides said he might leave the hospital within two weeks with the prospect of full recovery in a month.

The governor said capital improvement funds should be provided, for projects under contract, before the Nov. 14 financial session set by the legislature.

Majority Republican set that date to reconsider their defeat of a $45.5 million capital improvement measure during the winup of the regular session last Tuesday.

They also planned to take up DiSalle's veto of a billion-dollar appropriation to run the state for the second year of the biennium.

The legislature can consider only the subjects specified by the governor in a special session call. And DiSalle said he will ask the lawmakers to deal only with capital improvements.

West Envoys Open Talks In Critical Berlin Dispute

Baby Sitter Held In Deaths of Trio

DUBUQUE, Iowa (AP)—A baby sitter described by acquaintances as one who craved love and affection was held today by police, who said she admitted that three small children she tended had died in her arms.

No suspicion had been attached to Miss Mary Kathryn Madigan, 29, of Dubuque, until the county medical examiner determined that Gail Nemmers, 3, who had been left in her care Thursday night, died of suffocation.

Then Police Capt. Byrne O'Brien began looking into the death of another child of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nemmers, Karen, 22 months, July 12, and the death of Michael Fitzpatrick, 4 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fitzpatrick, July 14.

Miss Madigan, who had acted as baby sitter for both of these families, told police after her arrest and after her recovery from hysteria, that she liked to "hold babies tight."

"I was trying to give them love and affection," she said. Dubuque County Atty. Robert Oeth said he planned to file some type of a homicide charge against Miss Madigan today.

Police Chief Percy Lucas said the woman had made three separate statements in which she related that:

The oldest Nemmers girl, Gail, was being held across her lap and when the child cried she held her hand over it's mouth, "quite a bit."

She held Karen Nemmers and the Fitzpatrick boy with their mouths close to her neck and Lucas quoted her as saying: They seemed to gasp for air, and their bodies went limp."

In each case she put the babies back in their beds, but on Thursday night, after Gail Nemmers had stopped breathing, Miss Madigan telephoned the widowed mother with whom she lived, police said.

Dr. Donald McFarlane, county medical examiner, said there was no indication in the autopsies of the other two children that death was from other than natural causes. He said Karen Nemmers had a congenital heart ailment and the Fitzpatrick boy had virus pneumonia.

"These conditions could be aggravated by asphyxiation," Dr. McFarlane said.

Louis Fautsch, attorney for Miss Madigan, said her left arm is lame and injuries she suffered at birth partially closed an eye.

Thursday Is Day For Silver Dollars

Members of the Retail Merchants Division, Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce, have urged all local stores to circulate silver dollars in this area in preparation for "Dollar Days" here Thursday.

Local Banks and public utility organizations already have started using the silver dollars in daily customer transactions. Plenty of the large coins are expected to be in circulation by Thursday.

The retail merchants group established plans for the annual Dollar Day at a Chamber meeting earlier this week.

Bypass Study Data Being Compiled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sometime next month, or early in October, state highway officials hope to have pieced together a picture of the economic effect of a highway bypass on a community.

Communities in which the field work was done were Circleville, with a population of about 8,800 and bypassed by U.S. 23; St. Clairsville (3,000 population, U.S. 49 bypass) and Piqua (17,500 population, U.S. 25 bypass).

Included in the study were sales tax receipts, property values, parking, trips in and out of town, and the like. A before-and-after study, it was begun in 1958.

Police were told she was born with a spastic paralysis.

The mother of the Fitzpatrick boy regarded Miss Madigan as a good sitter who "took excellent care of the children and did extra things around the house."

Republican Bloc Backs Kennedy

Long-Term Aid Plan Gets New Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of Senate Republicans—admittedly a small minority of their party—rallied today to support of President Kennedy's Treasury-financed, long-term loan program for the development of struggling new nations.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said there will be enough Republican votes to put over the 5-year, $8.8-billion loan program.

The loan authority for the first year — $1,187,000,000—is part of this year's $4,326,500,000 foreign aid bill on which debate opened yesterday.

The big fight will come first on a proposed amendment by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., to require the President to come back to Congress each year for appropriations to finance the fund. No votes are expected before Tuesday or Wednesday.

Cooper, a former ambassador to India, joined Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in asking Senate passage of the foreign aid bill.

He said that long-term financing is "an imperative condition toward making our foreign aid program truly effective."

He called the term "back-door financing" — which Byrd and many Republicans have used to describe the borrowing authority proposal — a "misnomer and a diversions in this debate on foreign aid."

"I hope very much that the Republican party will not accept the slogan 'back-door spending' and allow its attention to be diverted from the true issues involved and from the important goals of our foreign aid program," Cooper said.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., also announced his support of "the principle of some long-term borrowing authority in order to efficiently finance a meaningful development loan program."

Bonds, Waivers Increased In Speed Cases

Circleville Police received a notice yesterday from Municipal Judge Sterling Lamb concerning a change in appearance bonds and waivers for speed violations.

Judge Lamb said the changes would be in effect as of Monday. In the county, during the daytime, if the speed charged in the affidavit is 90 miles per hour or more, the appearance bond or waiver shall be $50.

In the county, during the night time, if the speed charged in the affidavit is 80 miles per hour or more, the appearance bond or waiver shall be $50.

IN THE business district within the corporation limits, during the day or night, if the speed charged in the affidavit is 50 miles per hour or more, the bond or waiver shall be $50.

In a residential district within the city, during the day or night, if the speed charged in the affidavit is 65 miles per hour or more, the bond or waiver shall be $50.

Judge Lamb noted that recent statistics show that more than 45 per cent of traffic deaths are caused by speed and perhaps the increased bond will curb the growing number of violators in this area.

Negotiations Possible with Red Chieftains

Anti-Communist Feeling Mounting in East German Region

PARIS (AP)—The Western foreign ministers today opened a conference on the critical Berlin situation, determined to resist Soviet threats but willing to negotiate.

Representatives of the United States, Britain and France met for the opening session at the French Foreign Ministry. The West German minister will join the talks later in the day.

The start of the three-day conference coincided with intelligence reports of mounting anti-Communist unrest in Red-ruled East Germany.

The theory was gaining ground in Western circles that Soviet Premier Khrushchev, now that his threats to sign a peace treaty with East Germany have touched off the current crisis, is in some danger of running into trouble in the puppet state.

Intelligence reports indicate that the Communist rulers of East Germany are unable to contain the growing anti-Soviet feeling there. The situation is even being compared with 1953 when the East Germans revolted briefly against the Red regime.

A revolt in East Germany would make the Berlin situation even more explosive than it now is. It would confront the Western powers with the problem of what to do should West German citizens seek to cross the frontier to aid their kinsmen in the East.

That is just one of the reasons, informants said, why the Western powers would be willing to negotiate with the Soviet Union if a way can be found for doing so devoid of any threats.

East-West talks, either at the foreign ministers or the summit level, would provide a face-saving out for Khrushchev.

The Western ministers — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Britain's Lord Home, Maurice Couve de Murville of France and West Germany's Heinrich von Brentano — plan to hammer at a common course of diplomatic, political, and military action.

It is designed to convince Khrushchev the West will defy any Communist move against the 2.2 million West Berliners isolated 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

But all signs indicate negotiations were being considered on both sides.

On his arrival Friday Rusk made it clear the West would talk with the Soviet Union if Moscow refrains from saber-rattling.

Soviet notes issued to the three Western powers declared that Khrushchev also was leaning toward negotiation but unwilling to back down on the threat to sign a treaty with East Germany and turn over to East Germany the control of Allied access routes to Berlin.

Prime Minister Harold MacMillan said Friday night in London that the West can never abandon West Berlin but must be ready to talk with the Russians on the issue.

Delphos Is Hit By Costly Blaze

DELPHOS, Ohio (AP)—Damage is expected to run about a half-million dollars as a result of a fire that gutted a bank, a restaurant and three offices here Friday night and damaged three other stores.

The damage figure was estimated by Elmer Scherger, vice president and head cashier of the burned People's National Bank.

At least two firemen received minor hand cuts, and a woman spectator suffered bruises and cuts when she apparently tripped and fell.

Thousands of persons, many from surrounding areas, were cordoned off as fire departments from six other communities joined Delphos firemen in fighting the blaze. The firefighters came from Lima, Elida, Middlepoint, Ottoville, Van Wert and Spencerville.

PPG Takes Option On Crites Land

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. has taken up option for the purchase of 65 acres of land south of Circleville for anticipated construction of a new plant.

The land under option, owned by the Crites Milling Co., is about four miles south of Circleville. A central point of the 65-acre stretch is about one mile east of Route 23 and the road which leads to the DuPont plant on the west side of the highway. A western boundary is the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

The Crites family was notified of the taking up of the option this week by Pittsburgh Plate Glass. Several areas south of the city have been under study by the firm for several months.

The PPG firm has not announced the type or cost of plant it supposedly will build, nor has information concerning the number of initial employees or construction starting date been released.

According to information available here, Pittsburgh has several plots of land under study prior to taking up the Crites option. One was the Dewey Speakman acreage near Jefferson Subdivision.

Test drilling for water on the Crites land has been successfully completed. Necessary surveying also has been conducted.

Popular products of PPG are paint and plate glass. There has been no disclosure whether or not either will be earmarked for manufacture here.

Present plans call for the relocating of a road leading eastward off Route 23 to the Crites land, with Pittsburgh providing the construction. Upon completion the highway will be dedicated to the county.

According to the Crites family, remaining work in the property transaction includes preliminary checks on the title to the land. A complete and final price for the property and road access has not been determined at this time.

Guards Already Ride Shotgun On U.S. Airliners, Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stuart G. Tipton, president of the Air Transport Association, disclosed armed guards are riding some flights operating in the United States.

"It's probably just as well not to say which ones," Tipton told the Senate aviation subcommittee Friday.

The subcommittee held hearings on legislation to make airplane hijacking a federal crime punishable by life in prison. Whether this would be enough to deter hijackers prompted discussion of the possibility of armed guards.

Two senators said they might be necessary—at least on flights within range of Fidel Castro's Cuba.

"This might be 'the best insurance we could buy,'" said Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., chairman of the subcommittee. Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., author of the proposed legislation, agreed with Monroney that "it probably would be the most constructive thing we could do."

The hijackers who took over a Boeing 707 Thursday said they wanted to force the pilot to fly into Cuba.

On July 24 an Electra plane was hijacked after take-off from Miami, Fla., and flown to Cuba. The passengers and crew were returned, but the plane was held.

On May 1 a twin-engine Conair was hijacked between Miami and Key West, Fla., and flown to Cuba. It was later allowed to return to the United States.

After Thursday's hijacking over El Paso, Tex., the Federal Aviation Agency authorized the airlines to arm crew members who had received training in the use of firearms and were proficient in handling them.

Tipton said the airlines are concerned about "the possibility of gunplay." Concern also was expressed by Herbert J. Miller Jr., assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's criminal division.

Monroney said, however, that he is "not too concerned" about a bullet ripping a hole in the pressurized cabins of high-flying airliners. He said that planes already are equipped with oxygen masks that automatically fall into the laps of passengers if necessary.

The Kennedy administration gave its backing to the proposed hijacking legislation as a means of meeting the menace of "air drunks, flying fools, and spies in the sky."

The subcommittee called a closed-door session for Monday to act on the proposed legislation. Also under it, assaulting or threatening crew members would be made federal offenses. So would murder, robbery and other crimes committed aboard civil aircraft while in flight. And, anyone carrying a concealed weapon aboard a plane would be subject to a $10,000 fine.

Ohio Air Guard Prepares for Training Stint

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Business suits and summertime sports-wear gave way to military uniforms today. Ohio Air National Guard members prepared to move out for the annual two weeks of active duty.

Most of the citizen-airmen are leaving tonight and Sunday morning with the 121st Tactical Fighter Wing to go to Phelps Collins Air National Guard base near Alpena, Mich.

But one squadron of the wing, the 166th Tactical Fighter Squadron from Columbus, leaves Sunday for Myrtle Beach Air Force Base, S. C. It will take part in a simulated "limited war" situation, flying its F84F jet fighter-bombers in the Army-Air Force "Exercise Swift Strike."

Also taking part in "Swift Strike," but to be based in North Carolina, is the 123rd Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron from Blue Ash. The 112th Tactical Fighter Squadron from Toledo, part of the Indiana Air Guard, simulated an ocean crossing by flying from point to point in the United States during training last month.

Overshadowing this year's training is the strong possibility that many Ohio Air Guard units soon will be called into fulltime military service, perhaps for 18 months or more.

No word has been received on when, where or for how long these outfits may serve, but there are indications at least some units may go to Europe.

It's considered unlikely that any units would go directly into extended service from this two-week training period.

Republican Bloc Backs Kennedy

Long-Term Aid Plan Gets New Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of Senate Republicans—admittedly a small minority of their party—rallied today to support of President Kennedy's Treasury-financed, long-term loan program for the development of struggling new nations.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said there will be enough Republican votes to put over the 5-year, $8.8-billion loan program.

The loan authority for the first year — $1,187,000,000—is part of this year's $4,326,500,000 foreign aid bill on which debate opened yesterday.

The big fight will come first on a proposed amendment by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., to require the President to come back to Congress each year for appropriations to finance the fund. No votes are expected before Tuesday or Wednesday.

Cooper, a former ambassador to India, joined Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in asking Senate passage of the foreign aid bill.

He said that long-term financing is "an imperative condition toward making our foreign aid program truly effective."

He called the term "back-door financing" — which Byrd and many Republicans have used to describe the borrowing authority proposal — a "misnomer and a diversion" in this debate on foreign aid.

"I hope very much that the Republican party will not accept the slogan 'back-door spending' and allow its attention to be diverted from the true issues involved and from the important goals of our foreign aid program," Cooper said.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., also announced his support of "the principle of some long-term borrowing authority in order to efficiently finance a meaningful development loan program."

Grand Jury To Hear Hijack Case Monday

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—An ex-convict and his wild-eyed son were lodged in jail here today awaiting a grand jury hearing Monday for hijacking a jet airliner and attempting a forced flight to Cuba.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge R. E. Thomason ordered a special grand jury convened to determine whether to indict Leon Bearden, 38, and his son, Cody, 16. Both are being held under $100,000 bond.

The pair pulled firearms on the crew of a Continental Airlines Boeing 707 and 65 other passengers Thursday, then ordered the pilot to fly the $5 million jet to Cuba.

A barrage of bullets from heavily armed officers at El Paso's International Airport shot out the landing gear tires so the plane could not take off.

A border patrolman, Leonard Gilman, 43, later slugged the elder Bearden, and FBI Agent Francis Crosby grabbed the boy, thus spoiling their plan.

They face charges of hijacking the plane and taking it across the New Mexico-Texas state line and kidnapping those aboard. The plane was in flight from Los Angeles to Houston.

Gilman appeared Friday before the Senate aviation subcommittee considering bills to impose stiffer penalties for airborne crimes.

He said he feared Cody Bearden, 16, more than he did the father. He described young Bearden as a "cold, cool customer who did not smile once."

Thursday Is Day For Silver Dollars

Members of the Retail Merchants Division, Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce, have urged all local stores to circulate silver dollars in this area in preparation for "Dollar Days" here Thursday.

Local Banks and public utility organizations already have started using the silver dollars in daily customer transactions. Plenty of the large coins are expected to be in circulation by Thursday.

The retail merchants group established plans for the annual Dollar Day at a Chamber meeting earlier this week.

Bypass Study Data Being Compiled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sometime next month, or early in October, state highway officials hope to have pieced together a picture of the economic effect of a highway bypass on a community.

Communities in which the field work was done were Circleville, with a population of about 8,800, and bypassed by U.S. 23; St. Clairsville (3,000 population, U.S. 49 bypass) and Piqua (17,500 population, U.S. 25 bypass).

Included in the study were sales tax receipts, property values, parking, trips in and out of town, and the like. A before-and-after study, it was begun in 1956.

Guards Already Ride Shotgun On U.S. Airliners, Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stuart G. Tipton, president of the Air Transport Association, disclosed armed guards are riding some flights operating in the United States.

"It's probably just as well not to say which ones," Tipton told the Senate aviation subcommittee Friday.

The subcommittee held hearings on legislation to make airplane hijacking a federal crime punishable by life in prison. Whether this would be enough to deter hijackers prompted discussion of the possibility of armed guards.

Two senators said they might be necessary—at least on flights within range of Fidel Castro's Cuba.

"This might be 'the best insurance we could buy,'" said Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., chairman of the subcommittee. Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., author of the proposed legislation, agreed with Monroney that "it probably would be the most constructive thing we could do."

The hijackers who took over a Boeing 707 Thursday said they wanted to force the pilot to fly into Cuba.

On July 24 an Electra plane was hijacked after take-off from Miami, Fla., and flown to Cuba. The passengers and crew were returned, but the plane was held.

On May 1 a twin-engine Convair was hijacked between Miami and Key West, Fla., and flown to Cuba. It was later allowed to return to the United States.

After Thursday's hijacking over El Paso, Tex., the Federal Aviation Agency authorized the airlines to arm crew members who had received training in the use of firearms and were proficient in handling them.

Tipton said the airlines are concerned about "the possibility of gunplay." Concern also was expressed by Herbert J. Miller Jr., assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's criminal division.

Monroney said, however, that he is "not to concerned" about a bullet ripping a hole in the pressurized cabins of high-flying airliners. He said that planes already are equipped with oxygen masks that automatically fall into the laps of passengers if necessary.

The Kennedy administration gave its backing to the proposed hijacking legislation as a means of meeting the menace of "air

Ohio Air Guard Prepares for Training Stint

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Business suits and summertime sports-wear gave way to military uniforms today. Ohio Air National Guard members prepared to move out for the annual two weeks of active duty.

Most of the citizen-airmen are leaving tonight and Sunday morning with the 121st Tactical Fighter Wing to go to Phelps Collins Air National Guard base near Alpena, Mich.

But one squadron of the wing, the 166th Tactical Fighter Squadron from Columbus, leaves Sunday for Myrtle Beach Air Force Base, S. C. It will take part in a simulated "limited 2nd" situation, flying its F84F jet fighter-bombers in the Army-Air Force "Exercise Swift Strike."

Also taking part in "Swift Strike," but to be based in North Carolina, is the 123rd Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron from Blue Ash. The 112th Tactical Fighter Squadron from Toledo, part of the Indiana Air Guard, simulated an ocean crossing by flying from point to point in the United States during training last month.

Overshadowing this year's training is the strong possibility that many Ohio Air Guard units soon will be called into fulltime military service, perhaps for 18 months or more.

No word has been received on when, where or for how long these outfits may serve, but there are indications at least some units may go to Europe.

It's considered unlikely that any units would go directly into extended service from this two-week training period.

Delphos Is Hit By Costly Blaze

DELPHOS, Ohio (AP)—Damage is expected to run about a half-million dollars as a result of a fire that gutted a bank, a restaurant and three offices here Friday night and damaged three other stores.

The damage figure was estimated by Elmer Scherger, vice president and head cashier of the burned People's National Bank.

At least two firemen received minor hand cuts, and a woman spectator suffered bruises and cuts when she apparently tripped and fell.

Thousands of persons, many from surrounding areas, were crowded off as fire departments from six other communities joined Delphos firemen in fighting the blaze. The firefighters came from Lima, Elida, Middlepoint, Ottoville, Van Wert and Spencerville.

BIGGER YIELDS through Early Shelling with this NEW OLIVER Pull-type Model 73 Corn Picker-Sheller or Picker-Husker

Now you can husk part of your corn crop, shell the rest — both with this new pull-type picker-sheller or picker-husker.

Increase your yield this year and cut your field losses, too. No need to wait for the corn to go down — you can now pick and shell high moisture corn and pay for drying costs with the extra corn you salvage. You also save money by reducing field operations, handling and storage space.

- ★ Auxiliary shelling and husking units are interchangeable
- ★ Rear-load and side-load corn auger
- ★ New snapping rolls to reduce plugging and shelling
- ★ Adjustable axle, 20-inch transport wheels

Ask us for a demonstration on your own farm. Let us show you how to beat the weather and get your corn out before it goes down.

BIGGER YIELDS through Early Shelling

with this NEW

OLIVER Pull-type Model 73 Corn Picker-Sheller or Picker-Husker

Now you can husk part of your corn crop, shell the rest—both with this new pull-type picker-sheller or picker-husker. Increase your yield this year and cut your field losses, too. No need to wait for the corn to go down—you can now pick and shell high moisture corn and pay for drying costs with the extra corn you salvage. You also save money by reducing field operations, handling and storage space.

- ★ Auxiliary shelling and husking units are interchangeable
- ★ Rear-load and side-load corn auger
- ★ New snapping rolls to reduce plugging and shelling
- ★ Adjustable axle, 20-inch transport wheels

Ask us for a demonstration on your own farm. Let us show you how to beat the weather and get your corn out before it goes down.

Leatherwoods Reach Canada, Alaskan Highway Trip Looms

Editor's Note: Guy H. Leatherwood and his son, on their way to Alaska, have reached Canada and the initial stretches of the Alaskan Highway. Today's report tells of a visit with a homesteader family in Alberta, Canada, and lists some facts on Dawson Creek, British Columbia.

By GUY H. LEATHERWOOD
Valleyview, Alberta, Canada — How would you like to meet some honest-to-goodness pioneers — homesteaders — and enjoy the evening meal with them?

This is the unique experience my son and I had Tuesday. We visited with Eric Glegie, his wife Rosie and family.

We stopped in the evening to talk with Glegie and his sons and he insisted that we eat with them. This was about 6 p. m. but it doesn't get dark until about 9:30 or 10.

A homesteader can put in a "full" day. He is the embodiment of hospitality and would have been insulted if we had declined.

GLEGIE was born in Germany, lived in Berlin and came to Canada on the second to last ship to leave Germany before World War I in 1914. His wife, of German descent, is a native of Saskatchewan.

Why would he want to homestead here in the Peace River area? He said the Ukrainians and others from Europe are coming to Saskatchewan with two much money. He said they were paying as much as $16,000 for a quarter section.

So he took his money and started out again. He must clear 10 acres a year and I will say he is certainly making the farm bloom.

He could sell his small grain in limited quantities about 80 miles distant in government controlled markets. He prefers to feed everything to cattle and truck them 200 miles to Edmonton — no restrictions.

Glegie said he hates government restrictions and interference. He asked if I knew about the man in New York State who bought the Cadillac with money he received for not raising crops. He was much against this kind of thing. However, he said the Canadian Government was just "about as bad" with its spending.

Mrs. Glegie prepared a meal of potatoes cooked with peas and other vegetables. There were pork chops, two or three other kinds of meat and three kinds of bread. Also freshly churned butter, pickled onions and what have you.

TO TOP it off there were Saskatoon Berries with thick cream over them. They look like a small blueberry or huckleberry and taste somewhat like blueberries.

But as Mr. Glegie says "the more you eat the berries the more you notice the 'woody' flavor." However, they were delicious.

They grow on bushes about six or seven feet high. Our host had a specimen growing near his house. The family had never seen a Polaroid camera and it made a big hit with them, especially when I took a family picture and gave it to them. This family may not have all the modern things, which we seem to think necessary for happiness, but they have unlimited quantities of resourcefulness, individualism and initiative.

What they represent is what our forefathers had that makes America great. If only there were more like them.

Dawson Creek, British Columbia. — This is it. The end of the pavement and the beginning of the Alaskan Highway.

Mile Post zero is in the downtown section of Dawson Creek and in the middle of a busy intersection. The familiar question, when you meet a traveler from another state or province is "going or coming?"

If his car is covered with dust and the windshield is cracked, there is not much doubt but that he has been over the Alaskan Highway.

Actually, I understand there are some small portions of the Highway which is paved. But in general it is a gravel and dirt road.

DAWSON CREEK is a town of more than 12,000. It has mushroomed since the war — and shows it. A distribution point for the rich Peace River area, it annually ships about two million bushels of wheat. This is the largest grain shipping point in the British Commonwealth.

The city reminds one of a frontier town, yet the dress of the people and their way of living is very similar to that of Ohio. It seems that nearly everyone is from the other provinces or the states.

We have traveled more than 2,800 miles and today we will start on the 1,523 to Fairbanks, Alaska. We are ready to see how tough it is.

Young Trespasser Put on Probation Until He Is 21

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Roger Hearrell, 18, of Austintown, who lost the sight of his right eye when he was shot while trespassing at Meander Reservoir, was placed on probation until he is 21 by Juvenile Court Judge Harold S. Rickert Sr. Thursday.

Thomas Veauthier, 18, of Youngstown, who was with Hearrell in a boat, was given a similar penalty.

Hearrell was shot last Nov. 14 by reservoir patrolman Elwood Ressler, who committed suicide two weeks later. Ressler maintained he shot in self defense after the youth reached toward a gun in the boat.

"I can't hold you responsible for Ressler's taking his own life," Judge Rickert told Hearrell. "However, if no unlawful act had been committed the wheels would not have been set in motion that resulted in your being blind in one eye and Ressler dead."

CHAMP RETURNS — Virgil (Speck) Martin, well-known Circleville horseshoe pitching ace, unlimbers a toss under the watchful eyes of a judge during last night's final County Tournament qualifying matches at the Fairgrounds courts. Horseshoe Champs Ready for Tonight

Titles in three divisions will be at stake when the finals of the 1961 Pickaway County Horseshoe Tournament open at 5 p. m. today at the Fairgrounds courts.

Class A competition will be headed by former champion Virgil Martin, who registered the highest qualifying score, a 101. Bill Jones, Neal Brown, Claud Taylor, Ray Badger and Chet Peters round out the six-man division.

In the class B title matches, Harold Whippel heads off a five-man field with a preliminary mark of 88. Warren Grove is listed as the No. 2 man, followed by Dick Robbins, M. A. Rathburn and Walter Rase.

Rathburn, with an 83 and class C leader John Wilkes with an 81 were the only two entries to qualify in last night's final warmup bouts.

WILKES is tied with J. A. Grigsby for top position in the class C drawings. Ray Goodman, Lowell Rader and Ed Hutchison complete the classification's contestants.

"The courts are dry and in excellent condition," event superintendent Ray Goodman said today. Heavy rains forced cancellation of qualifying matches earlier in the week, but "everything is in A-1 shape now" Goodman noted.

Volunteer workers have spent many hours this week reworking the clay embankments around the pegs and checking the stakes to insure the best possible competitive conditions.

First place trophies are being donated by the Ankrom Lumber Co. Circleville Oil and L. M. Butch Jewelry Co. Second, third and fourth position trophies in each class have been donated by Palm's Carry out, Ward's Market, Wes Edstrom, Glitt Grocery, Russ Marathon, Blue Ribbon Dairy, Christopher Pontiac, Kochhieser Hardware and Harden Chevrolet.

A large crowd of spectators is expected to be on hand for tonight's championship contests.

Down-Payment Terms Eased

Federal Agency Aids Mid-Income Families

WASHINGTON (AP) — A substantial easing of mortgage and down-payment terms for higher-priced homes was authorized Friday by the Federal Home Loan Bank board.

In an action that can ease the way to home ownership for middle-income families, the board announced that federal savings and loan associations may make 30-year mortgage loans with a 10 per cent down payment on the home and a maximum loan of $26,500.

Previously, federal loan associations could make 10 per cent down payment loans for no more than 25 years and only up to a maximum loan of $22,000.

The 10 per cent down payment applies on the first $25,000 of the home value; 20 per cent is required on the value in excess of $25,000. Under the old regulation the mortgage could cover 90 per cent of the value of up to $20,000 plus 80 per cent of the value above $20,000.

For a $30,000 house, for instance, the new regulation means that a $3,500 cash down payment would be required with the mortgage loan at the $26,500 limit. Under the old regulation, an $8,000 down payment was required on such a house with the loan maximum at $22,000.

The new regulation also permits loans to be made for the first time to home owners themselves to finance construction. The amount of the mortgage in excess of 80 per cent of the value will be held back until construction is completed.

Mental Agency Chops Its Payroll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The payroll of Ohio's huge Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction already has been reduced by 455 jobs.

And Dr. Robert A. Haines, department director, says he isn't kidding about cutting off at least another 150 jobs. Haines says it's necessary because the legislature didn't allow the department enough money to continue operating at present levels.

Legislators noted that more money than ever before was appropriated for the department, but Haines said pay increases, opening more than offset this.

Horseshoe Champs Ready for Tonight

Titles in three divisions will be at stake when the finals of the 1961 Pickaway County Horseshoe Tournament open at 5 p. m. today at the Fairgrounds courts.

Class A competition will be headed by former champion Virgil Martin, who registered the highest qualifying score, a 101. Bill Jones, Neal Brown, Claud Taylor, Ray Badger and Chet Peters round out the six-man division.

In the class B title matches, Harold Whippel heads off a five-man field with a preliminary mark of 88. Warren Grove is listed as the No. 2 man, followed by Dick Robbins, M. A. Rathburn and Walter Rase.

Rathburn, with an 83 and class C leader John Wilkes with an 81 were the only two entries to qualify in last night's final warmup bouts.

WILKES is tied with J. A. Grigsby for top position in the class C drawings. Ray Goodman, Lowell Rader and Ed Hutchison complete the classification's contestants.

"The courts are dry and in excellent condition," event superintendent Ray Goodman said today. Heavy rains forced cancellation of qualifying matches earlier in the week, but "everything is in A-1 shape now," Goodman noted.

Volunteer workers have spent many hours this week reworking the clay embankments around the pegs and checking the stakes to insure the best possible competitive conditions.

First place trophies are being donated by the Ankrom Lumber Co., Circleville Oil and L. M. Butch Jewelry Co. Second, third and fourth position trophies in each class have been donated by Palm's Carry out, Ward's Market, Wes Edstrom, Glitt Grocery, Russ Marathon, Blue Ribbon Dairy, Christopher Pontiac, Koch-hieser Hardware and Harden Chevrolet.

A large crowd of spectators is expected to be on hand for tonight's championship contests.

Summer Is on Home Stretch

When August arrives summer enters the home stretch, somewhat feverishly because people suddenly realize that time is fleeting and if they're to do the things they planned to accomplish this summer, the time for procrastination has passed.

August is an unpredictable month, meteorologically speaking. Generally regarded as the hottest month of the year, it cannot be relied upon to live up to this pattern. Nights frequently become cooler in the latter days of August, perhaps because days are becoming perceptibly shorter.

Anyway, August's here, and it behooves everyone to make the most of it especially the young sprouts. In a month schools will reopen, to be followed by reopening of colleges. Summer may not be on its last legs, but it soon will be.

Free Thinkers

I have received a "special T.V. announcement" to the effect that "Mr. Joseph Lewis, President, Free Thinkers of America and author of 'An Atheist Manifesto', 'The Bible Unmasked', 'The Ten Commandments' and many other books on Free Thought, as well as 'Thomas Paine: Author of the Declaration of Independence', will be a panel guest on Betty Furness' program, 'At Your Beck and Call' over Station NTA, Monday, July 31st, 8:30 p. m. to 10 p. m. There will be no restriction as to questions or answers on the Bible, belief in God, etc."

A free thinker is supposed to be a person who regards himself of such superior mentality that he does not believe in a god — any god, but he does believe in himself. Lewis' philosophy is based on Thomas Paine's sentence: "Independence is my happiness and I view things as they are, without regard to place or person; my country is the world, and my religion is to do good."

My country is not the world, which in many areas is too barren. My country is the United States. Thomas Paine did not find of great significance, as it did not exist during most of his life. True, he was a Virginian but he was also an Englishman and his quarrel with George III helped to make us free, although it did not make Thomas Paine fully cognizant of what it meant to be an American.

In a free society an atheist has a right to poke his fist at God, and Betty Furness undoubtedly ly feels that she is providing this particular atheist with his constitutional right to unmask the Bible and to prove that the 10 Commandments were not revealed to Moses by God but were copied from the Code of Hammurabi who got it all out of his head or from some prior barbarians.

I have never seen a Betty Furness program except during political conventions when she interrupts the proceedings to advertise washing machines and such commodities. I did not know that she went in for theological dialectics. Perhaps we have here hidden behind the television screen an American Isidore of Seville or a female Maimonides who will so thoroughly question the atheist that he will collapse like Job's adversaries.

At any rate, one can shout whatever he desires to shout in this country. He does not need to follow anyone but his own conscience and his own mind, if he has one. In fact, he need not have a mind. The Constitution does not make intelligence a necessity and a moron's vote is as good as a professor's. Such equality is often called democracy.

Imagine what would have happened if the Manhattan Project had been put to a vote! On one side would be Albert Einstein, with General Leslie Groves and a dozen other suspicious characters and on the other side would be some 60,000 adults who would wonder what an atom is and why anyone should want to split something that cannot even be seen with the naked eye. It would surely have been voted down unless some politicians knew how to create a crisis to scare the wits out of the people. So-called democracies require crises to get moving.

So we have a society where anyone can say anything, where each individual is entitled to his opinion, where daughters sue fathers for the father's earnings while he is still alive; where politicians rise to discuss great public questions which they do not understand and ghost-writers make a living giving weak minds strong expression. For all this, one can only say, "Hooray!" let the welkins ring loud with discussion and debate.

Perhaps some true believer will ask for equal time, the way politicians do. Then the true believer will prove that the atheist has nothing to say that is never than what the true believer has to say. In fact, Rabbi Nelson Glueck is even now in the Negev discovering that many of the statements in the Bible which free thinkers had questioned can be proved by the most rigid scientific methods to be true.

His archeological work in this connection has been outstanding and even an atheist has to admit that as more knowledge is made available, the Bible is proved to be more right. So maybe Betty Furness will ask Rabbi Glueck to discuss his archeological studies in the Negev.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE EARLY DAYS of the NEW YORKER were highlighted by the running feud between Editor Harold Ross and his coy, self-satisfied star contributor, Alexander Woollcott. Woollcott once completed some intricate testimonial transaction whereby he came into possession of 200 expensive Paris neckties, and in a moment of rare graciousness, told Ross, "Pick one out for yourself." Ross not only picked one for himself, but pilfered forty extra in the process. The next time Mr. W. paid a scheduled visit to the New Yorker office, everybody in the place, from the elevator boy and the receptionist to the statue of John Greenleaf Whittier in the founder's private sanctum, was draped in one of Woollcott's cravats. "Ross," shrieked Woollcott, "you are the kind of poltroon with whom no gentleman can deal!" and flounced off to his island in Vermont—to write another column for the NEW YORKER.

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Why did that wonderful beach party have to start a typhoid epidemic? Flies were few and food was frosty — cold.

But the boys dug the clams in typhoid-filled water. Each tiny clam carried millions of typhoid germs. These germs rest for 12 days before piercing the intestinal wall and attack your blood stream. The illness starts like a milk flu. Your head throbs and your nose bleeds. Your fever bounces up and down — a little higher each day. Sluggish intestines feel stopped-up. You hack and choke with typhoid's bronchitis. Other germs join in and trigger pneumonia.

Before feverish delirium sets in, you stare glassy-eyed and pick aimlessly at your sweat-soaked bedclothes. Still, your heart continues its slow, regular beat. A few scattered red spots break out on your bloated abdomen.

Typhoid germs may eat through intestinal lymph — node patches and permit food to spill out with shock-like pain. Intestinal hemorrhage may also threaten life. Tiny pockets of typhoid infection in the liver may cause yellow jaundice. And when typhoid poisons bone marrow, you pale with anemia.

After two weeks you'll start to recover. Chloromycetin can shorten this to two days. Still, you have to take the medicine for four or five weeks.

Plenty of rest and health-giving foods may prevent smoldering typhoid from flaring up again. Once the fires are out, you're immune for life.

Juices instead of raw fruits and vegetables protect your intestines from irritating roughage. And don't forget those extra vitamins, too!

Sickroom towels, bedding, dishes and silverware have to be boiled until chloromycetin begins to work leaving the sickroom.

Three weekly injections can protect you against typhoid fever. But you don't really need this protection as long as you own sanitary plumbing to flush typhoid down the drain — and do your clamping in safe waters!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—What the government might think or do becomes an increasingly large factor in much of today's business planning.

Government antitrust suits, tax laws or interpretations, import quotas, international policies, all play a big role. Today's news columns are full of examples of government interest in, and policing of, business practices.

Business decisions today often must go far beyond what might seem to be the prime questions: Will there be a market for our goods? Can production costs make the business profitable? Will competition allow prices that insure a profit?

Investors also have to watch Washington closely these days. Its moves can upset a corporate appecart, reverse a stock market trend, or even set the future climate for business in general. State and local laws, rulings, taxes, franchises, zoning also can spell profit or loss to individual companies. In many cases they also can determine whether a company stays or moves—or where it moves.

This isn't to argue the right or wrong of any one or all of the laws or government policies. It is merely to state one of today's most important facts of business life: Governments at all levels are becoming close partners of business.

An example is this week's disclosure that the Justice Department is thinking about trying to force American Telephone & Telegraph to get rid of its overseas communications network. At the same time the government is playing, understandably, a major role in AT&T's plans to go into outer space communications.

The antitrust threat took the stockholders, the big group in the nation, by surprise. The price of AT&T stock dropped $4.62 to $121. That helped send the industrial averages as a whole down moderately from their Tuesday high. It halted, whether briefly or otherwise, a rally that had sent the market into new high ground after President Kennedy announced a defense setup.

General Motors and Du Pont stockholders also are keenly aware of the possibilities inherent in the governments stand that Du Pont must get rid of its large bloc of GM shares. Not only are stock prices involved, but also the matter of income tax payments on the capital gains when Du Pont sells or hands the GM stock to its own shareholders.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stalin was always the heavy, mustache and all, looking for a poor old widows mortgage to foreclose.

He might have divided the Western partners and picked them off one by one if he had tried the peppermint candy treatment in the first few years after the war.

But he didn't like candy. And he acted so trigger-happy he drove the Westerners into self-defense in a way he wanted least: military and economic alliances.

But Nikita Khrushchev is a different breed: More versatile, resourceful and imaginative.

He sounded like a real candyman, starting out, with his trips, quips, and antics, and his insistence on peaceful coexistence.

His biggest obstacle—as it was in the end for Stalin—was that military alliance of Western Europe.

For a time it seemed that by sheer jolly goodwill he might melt it away.

That alliance—NATO, with the United States as a partner—has never been a truly fireball arrangement.

The Allies, who had set a goal of 90 NATO divisions for themselves, right now have no more than 22.

The Russians have 175 divisions, which, although widely deployed, number 1.9 million men. The total NATO forces number about 400,000 troops.

It must have occurred to Khrushchev that there was another way, besides sweetness and light, to achieve the melting he wanted.

This was to alternate the good-natured foxy grandpa routine with threats which could hardly be ignored now when Russia has rockets which Stalin never had.

So for years Khrushchev has put on a dazzling show, switching tactics from soft to hard. And all along Berlin must have looked like a good bet to him.

Here was a city which, although its links were with the West, lay 110 miles inside Communist East

Nassau, capital of the Bahama Islands, was one of the chief bases for supplies for Confederate blockade — runners from 1861 to 1865.

Germany, a nasty situation if the West wanted to defend it.

What better way to test the Western partnership than to threaten to take over Berlin?

Would France, the Netherlands, Italy and the United States risk a rain of nuclear rockets for a city which wasn't even inside the Western frontiers?

No wonder Khrushchev cracked down on Berlin. His trouble was he seemed carried away by his own zeal. He pushed his luck, got too tough and too loud too soon.

The Allies, instead of being splintered, each in the direction of its own self-interest, began to show more aggressive determination not to be humbugged that they had exhibited in years.

This may have cooled off Khrushchev a bit. At least he hasn't been rattling his rockets since President Kennedy did a little tough talking of his own a week ago.

But at the moment allied determination to stand firm seems more in the form of agreeing to do so than any sudden fervor to add a lot more manpower to the Western forces.

This week there was a burst of stories out of Washington—based on information from a source who refused to let himself be identified — which said: Current appraisals in informed Washington circles are that Western forces would be a virtual match for Communist troops in a conventional war.

The figures given earlier in this story—on the numbers of Russian and allied troops—hardly seems to bear out this optimistic appraisal since the Russians outnumber the Allies 8 to 1.

To say Western forces would be a virtual match for Communist troops in Europe in a conventional war is exactly contrary to what President Eisenhower told a news conference on March 11, 1959, when Khrushchev was threatening Berlin.

Pointing out that the 175 Russian divisions far outnumbered any forces the United States could send into Europe to defend Berlin, Eisenhower said: "We are certainly not going to fight a ground war in Europe. What good would it do to send a few more thousands or indeed even a few divisions of troops to Europe?"

Then Eisenhower implied that, instead of fighting on the ground, the United States would use nuclear weapons if necessary to defend its rights in Berlin.

But last week Defense Secretary McNamara, taking the same line as that informed source who refused to be identified in news stories, said: "There is no reason for us to assume that the Soviet Union can run over NATO. It can't."

Has there been some drastic change in allied ground forces in Europe which would make the Allies look so much stronger than Eisenhower thought they were? Not that this writer knows of.

So we have a society where anyone can say anything, where each individual is entitled to his opinion, where daughters sue fathers for the father's earnings while he is still alive; where politicians rise to discuss great public questions which they do not understand and ghost-writers make a living giving weak minds strong expression. For all this, one can only say, "Hooray!" let the welkins ring loud with discussion and debate.

Perhaps some true believer will ask for equal time, the way politicians do. Then the true believer will prove that the atheist has nothing to say that is newer than what the true believer has to say. In fact, Rabbi Nelson Glueck is even now in the Negev discovering that many of the statements in the Bible which free thinkers had questioned can be proved by the most rigid scientific methods to be true.

His archeological work in this connection has been outstanding and even an atheist has to admit that as more knowledge is made available, the Bible is proved to be more right. So maybe Betty Furness will ask Rabbi Glueck to discuss his archeological studies in the Negev.

LAFF-A-DAY

"The ocean seems a little rough today."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE EARLY DAYS of the NEW YORKER were highlighted by the running feud between Editor Harold Ross and his coy, self-satisfied star contributor, Alexander Woollcott. Woollcott once completed some intricate testimonial transaction whereby he came into possession of 200 expensive Paris neckties, and in a moment of rare graciousness, told Ross, "Pick one out for yourself." Ross not only picked one for himself, but pilfered forty extra in the process. The next time Mr. W. paid a scheduled visit to the New Yorker office, everybody in the place, from the elevator boy and the receptionist to the statue of John Greenleaf Whittier in the founder's private sanctum, was draped in one of Woollcott's cravats. "Ross," shrieked Woollcott, "you are the kind of poltroon with whom no gentleman can deal!" and flounced off to his island in Vermont—to write another column for the NEW YORKER.

W. C. Fields, never known as a teetotaler, was suffering from a really stupendous hangover one morning at the Paramount lot. "Let me fix you a Seltzer," suggested his director. "Oh, no, not that," groaned Fields. "I couldn't stand the racket."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Why did that wonderful beach party have to start a typhoid epidemic? Flies were few and food was frosty - cold.

But the boys dug the clams in typhoid - filled water. Each tiny clam carried millions of typhoid germs. These germs rest for 12 days before piercing the intestinal wall and attack your blood stream.

The illness starts like a milk flu. Your head throbs and your nose bleeds. Your fever bounces up and down — a little higher each day. Sluggish intestines feel stopped-up. You hack and choke with typhoid's bronchitis. Other germs join in and trigger pneumonia.

Before feverish delirium sets in, you stare glassy-eyed and pick aimlessly at your sweat-soaked bedclothes. Still, your heart continues its slow, regular beat. A few scattered red spots break out on your bloated abdomen. Typhoid germs may eat through intestinal lymph - node patches and permit food to spill out with shock - like pain. Intestinal hemorrhage may also threaten life.

Tiny pockets of typhoid infection in the liver may cause yellow jaundice. And when typhoid poisons bone marrow, you pale with anemia. After two weeks you'll start to recover. Chloromycetin can shorten this to two days. Still, you have to take the medicine for four or five weeks.

Plenty of rest and health-giving foods may prevent smoldering typhoid from flaring up again. Once the fires are out, you're immune for life. Juices instead of raw fruits and vegetables protect your intestines from irritating roughage. And don't forget those extra vitamins, too!

Sickroom towels, bedding, dishes and silverware have to be boiled until chloromycetin begins to work leaving the sickroom.

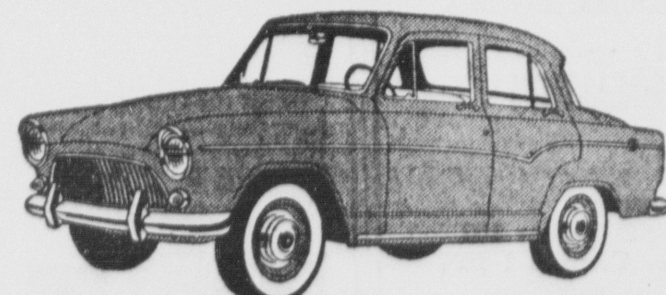

Three weekly injections can protect you against typhoid fever. But you don't really need this protection as long as you own sanitary plumbing to flush typhoid down the drain — and do your clamping in safe waters!

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—What the government might think or do becomes an increasingly large factor in much of today's business planning.

Government antitrust suits, tax laws or interpretations, import quotas, international policies, all play a big role. Today's news columns are full of examples of government interest in, and policing of, business practices.

Business decisions today often must go far beyond what might seem to be the prime questions: Will there be a market for our goods? Can production costs make the business profitable? Will competition allow prices that insure a profit?

Investors also have to watch Washington closely these days. Its moves can upset a corporate ap- plecart, reverse a stock market trend, or even set the future climate for business in general.

State and local laws, rulings, taxes, franchises, zoning also can spell profit or loss to individual companies. In many cases they also can determine whether a company stays or moves—or where it moves.

This isn't to argue the right or wrong of any one or all of the laws or government policies. It is merely to state one of today's most important facts of business life: Governments at all levels are becoming close partners of business.

An example is this week's disclosure that the Justice Department is thinking about trying to force American Telephone & Telegraph to get rid of its overseas communications network. At the same time the government is playing, understandably, a major role in AT&T's plans to go into outer space communications.

The antitrust threat took the stockholders, the biggest group in the nation, by surprise. The price of AT&T stock dropped $4.62 to $121. That helped send the industrial averages as a whole down moderately from their Tuesday high. It halted, whether briefly or otherwise, a rally that had sent the market into new high ground after President Kennedy announced a defense setup.

General Motors and Du Pont stockholders also are keenly aware of the possibilities inherent in the governments stand that Du Pont must get rid of its large bloc of GM shares. Not only are stock prices involved, but also the matter of income tax payments on the capital gains when Du Pont sells or hands the GM stock to its own shareholders.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stalin was always the heavy, mustache and all, looking for a poor old widows mortgage to foreclose.

He might have divided the Western partners and picked them off one by one if he had tried the peppermint candy treatment in the first few years after the war.

But he didn't like candy. And he acted so trigger-happy he drove the Westerners into self-defense in a way he wanted least: military and economic alliances.

But Nikita Khrushchev is a different breed: More versatile, resourceful and imaginative.

He sounded like a real candyman, starting out, with his trips, quips, and antics, and his insistence on peaceful coexistence.

His biggest obstacle—as it was in the end for Stalin—was that military alliance of Western Europe.

For a time it seemed that by sheer jolly goodfellowship he might melt it away.

That alliance—NATO, with the United States as a partner—has never been a truly fireball arrangement.

The Allies, who had set a goal of 90 NATO divisions for themselves, right now have no more than 22.

The Russians have 175 divisions which, although widely deployed, number 1.9 million men. The total NATO forces number about 400,000 troops.

It must have occurred to Khrushchev that there was another way, besides sweetness and light, to achieve the melting he wanted.

This was to alternate the good-natured foxy grandpa routine with threats which could hardly be ignored now when Russia has rockets which Stalin never had.

So for years Khrushchev has put on a dazzling show, switching tactics from soft to hard. And all along Berlin must have looked like a good bet to him.

Here was a city which, although its links were with the West, lay 110 miles inside Communist East

Germany, a nasty situation if the West wanted to defend it.

What better way to test the Western partnership than to threaten to take over Berlin?

Would France, the Netherlands, Italy and the United States risk a rain of nuclear rockets for a city which wasn't even inside the Western frontiers?

No wonder Khrushchev cracked down on Berlin. His trouble was he seemed carried away by his own zeal. He pushed his luck, got too tough and too loud too soon.

The Allies, instead of being splintered, each in the direction of its own self-interest, began to show more aggressive determination not to be humbugged than they had exhibited in years.

This may have cooled off Khrushchev a bit. At least he hasn't been rattling his rockets since President Kennedy did a little tough talking of his own a week ago.

But at the moment allied determination to stand firm seems more in the form of agreeing to do so than any sudden fervor to add a lot more manpower to the Western forces.

This week there was a burst of stories out of Washington—based on information from a source who refused to let himself be identified — which said: Current appraisals in informed Washington circles are that Western forces would be a virtual match for Communist troops in a conventional war.

The figures given earlier in this story—on the numbers of Russian and allied troops—hardly seems to bear out this optimistic appraisal since the Russians outnumber the Allies 8 to 1.

To say Western forces would be a virtual match for Communist troops in Europe in a conventional war is exactly contrary to what President Eisenhower told a news conference on March 11, 1959, when Khrushchev was threatening Berlin.

Pointing out that the 175 Russian divisions far outnumbered any forces the United States could send into Europe to defend Berlin, Eisenhower said: "We are certainly not going to fight a ground war in Europe. What good would it do to send a few more thousands or indeed even a few divisions of troops to Europe?"

Then Eisenhower implied that, instead of fighting on the ground, the United States would use nuclear weapons if necessary to defend its rights in Berlin.

But last week Defense Secretary McNamara, taking the same line as that informed source who refused to be identified in news stories, said: "There is no reason for us to assume that the Soviet Union can run over NATO. It can't."

Has there been some drastic change in allied ground forces in Europe which would make the Allies look so much stronger than Eisenhower thought they were? Not that this writer knows of.

113,000 Ohioans Get Idle Pay Aid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Nearly 113,000 Ohioans claimed benefits during the first 13 weeks of the temporary extended unemployment compensation program, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported today.

During the first week of the program, which was effective April 19 and extends to June 1962, 51,000 filed initial claims, with some 2,000 fewer continuing their claims the second week. At the end of 13 weeks, continuing temporary claims dropped some 23,000 or 35 per cent between July 15 and July 22.

Governor's Press Secretary Resigns

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jerry Poston, administrative aide and press secretary for Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, announced he will resign today to become Washington representative for the Dayton Area Chamber of Commerce.

Poston joined the DiSalle staff 2 1/2 years ago when he left his job as legislative correspondent for the Dayton Daily News.

Poston said he will leave the governor's office and his $12,000 a year post around Sept. 15. He has been secretary of DiSalle's cabinet and handled other official chores besides press relations.

Civil Rights Hearings Due in Dayton, Cincy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The first public hearings in the two-year history of the Ohio Civil Rights Commission will be held Sept. 6 at Dayton and Sept. 19 at Cincinnati, it was announced today.

Both hearings will deal with charges by Negro musicians that they have been discriminated against because of race in violation of the fair employment practices law.

City Loan Chiefs OK Commercial Credit Deal

NEW YORK (AP)—Directors of City Loan & Savings Co. of Lima, Ohio, have voted to recommend shareholders that they accept an offer to exchange their stock for common and preferred stock of Commercial Credit Co.

Three shares of City Loan common stock would be exchanged for one share of common and one share of preferred of Commercial Credit.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

He's Like Off Beat!

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a man my parents hate. I'll call him Joe. My father checked up on him, and now he won't let me go with him. Joe is a musician. He plays the drums. My father says a drummer is no musician; that a person who plays the piano or violin can call himself a musician—but a drum is no instrument. Is this true?

Also, my father found out that Joe is 28. He lied to me and said he was 24. I lied to my parents and said he was 20. (I am 17.) I want to know: No. 1—If you could call a drummer a musician? And, No. 2—if you think, as long as he is a gentleman, my parents should let me go with him?

JOES GIRL

DEAR GIRL: No. 1: A drummer IS a musician. But what's all this jazz about his lying about his age? That is another kettle of drums! Tell your drummer boy to play it straight, or beat it!

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a boy who says the only reason he wants to kiss you on the lips is to taste your lipstick?

MADELINE

DEAR MADELINE: Tell him not to cheek to him, and turn him out to do any flavors....

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor, who is impossible to talk to, throws bread in his yard every day to feed the pigeons. The pigeons fly back and forth from his roof to mine all day long. They have nests in my chimney. I don't have to tell you what a couple of hundred pigeons can do. It is impossible for me to hang out my washing. And to enjoy sitting outside is out of the question. Every day more join the flock. Do you or any of your readers know any way to get rid of pigeons? Or do they do some good that I don't know about?

PIGEON HATER

DEAR PIGEON HATER: The most constructive function ever credited to pigeons was carrying messages, and Alexander Graham Bell put them out of that business years ago. But pigeons can still carry diseases. If your neighbor is "impossible to talk to—talk to the Board of Health, and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope

Hijacked Pilot Raps Armed Crew Idea

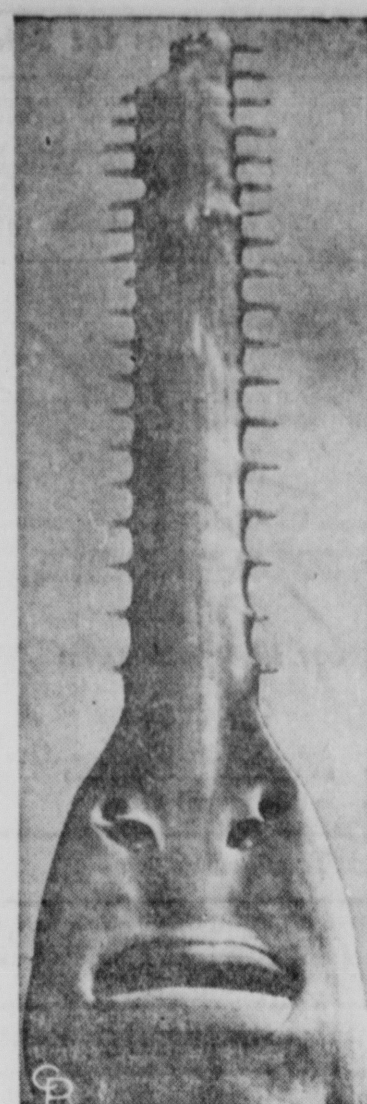

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The pilot of a hijacked airliner says he doesn't approve of arming plane crews to thwart piracy.

"Arming the crew would present a more serious problem," Capt. Byron D. Rickards, of Redondo Beach, Calif., said. "If we had been armed we probably would have gotten hurt."

Arming of crews had been suggested by Najeeb Halaby, administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency.

Rickards proposed, as an alternative, a single armed guard on each plane.

"This worked during the stagecoach days, when a guard by the driver's seat carried a shotgun," he said.

SOURPUSS—This fellow isn't about to say, "Take me to your leader," he's just bemoaning the fact that he's in the Miami, Fla., Seaquarium instead of the briny deep. He's a baby sawfish, about two feet long (will grow to 14 feet) and you're looking from underneath. Those "eyes" really are gills.

A little grated onion and brown sugar enhance the flavor of canned baked beans. If your family are real bean-eaters, count on a one-pound can of the beans serving two or three.

Sprinkle tomato halves with buttered bread crumbs before they are broiled.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Snyder of Williamsport entertained with a dinner Sunday. Relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Betz, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Donahue, Cindy and Mark and Mrs. Claude Reynolds all of Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. David Snyder of Circleville.

The dinner was in honor of the birthdays of Mr. Betz, Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Snyder.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian McVey and son, Jimmy, are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stonerock and sons, Mike, Steve, and Jeff of Tampa, Fla. The Stonerocks are former residents of Circleville.

Mr. Larry Lauerman spent last week visiting his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shaw and son, Route 2 Williamsport Route 2.

Mrs. Shaw (Connie Lauerman) and son spent the weekend in Kingston with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Lauerman.

113,000 Ohioans Get Idle Pay Aid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Nearly 113,000 Ohioans claimed benefits during the first 13 weeks of the temporary extended unemployment compensation program, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported today.

During the first week of the program, which was effective April 14 and extends to June 1962, 51,000 filed initial claims, with some 2,000 fewer continuing their claims the second week. At the end of 13 weeks, continuing temporary claims dropped some 23,000 or 35 per cent between July 15 and July 22.

Governor's Press Secretary Resigns

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jerry Poston, administrative aide and news secretary for Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, announced he will hand in his resignation today to become Washington representative for the Dayton Area Chamber of Commerce.

Poston joined the DiSalle staff 2½ years ago when he left his job as legislative correspondent for the Dayton Daily News.

Poston said he will leave the governor's office and his $12,000 a year post around Sept. 15. He has been secretary of DiSalle's cabinet and handled other official chores besides press relations.

Civil Rights Hearings Due in Dayton, Cincy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The first public hearings in the two-year history of the Ohio Civil Rights Commission will be held Sept. 6 at Dayton and Sept. 19 at Cincinnati, it was announced today.

Both hearings will deal with charges by Negro musicians that they have been discriminated against because of race in violation of the fair employment practices law.

City Loan Chiefs OK Commercial Credit Deal

NEW YORK (AP)—Directors of City Loan & Savings Co. of Lima, Ohio, have voted to recommend shareholders that they accept an offer to exchange their stock for common and preferred stock of Commercial Credit Co.

Three shares of City Loan common stock would be exchanged for one share of common and one share of preferred of Commercial Credit.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

He's Like Off Beat!

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a man my parents hate. I'll call him Joe. My father: checked up on him, and now he won't let me go with him. Joe is a musician. He plays the drums. My father says a drummer is no musician; that a person who plays the piano or violin can call himself a musician—but a drum is no instrument. Is this true?

Also, my father found out that Joe is 28. He lied to me and said he was 24. I lied to my parents and said he was 20. (I am 17.) I want to know: No. 1—If you could call a drummer a musician? And, No. 2—if you think, as long as he is a gentleman, my parents should let me go with him?

DEAR GIRL: No. 1: A drummer IS a musician. But what's all this jazz about his lying about his age? That is another kettle of drums! Tell your drummer boy to play it straight, or beat it!

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a boy who says the only reason he wants to kiss you on the lips is to taste your lipstick?

DEAR MADELINE: Turn your cheek to him, and tell him not to do you any flavors....

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor, who is impossible to talk to, throws bread in his yard every day to feed the pigeons. The pigeons fly back and forth from his roof to mine all day long. They have nests in my chimney. I don't have to tell you what a couple of hundred pigeons can do. It is impossible for me to hang out my washing. And to enjoy sitting outside is out of the question. Every day more join the flock. Do you or any of your SOURPUSS—This fellow isn't about to say, "Take me to your leader," he's just bemoaning the fact that he's in the Miami, Fla., Seaquarium instead of the briny deep. He's a baby sawfish, about two feet long (will grow to 14 feet) and you're looking from underneath. Those "eyes" really are gills.

A little grated onion and brown sugar enhance the flavor of canned baked beans. If your family are real bean-eaters, count on a one-pound can of the beans serving two or three.

Sprinkle tomato halves with buttered bread crumbs before they are broiled.

1. Card of Thanks

I wish to thank everyone for being so nice to me during my stay in Berger Hospital. Dr. Smith, Dr. Alvarez, and Dr. J. M. Hendrix, all the wonderful nurses, and aids. For all the lovely cards, and notes of encouragement, the beautiful flowers, to my friends, and neighbors, for their many acts of kindness. My Pastor, Rev. Richard Humble, for his faithfulness, my church and others for the many prayers that were offered in my behalf. To all of you I will be forever grateful.

Sincerely, McCallan Clark, 410 Faye Ave., Circleville.

299th Victory Comes For Braves Hurler as Giants Go Down 3-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wonderful Warren Spahn Milwaukee's splendid southpaw, needs only one more victory to become the seventh pitcher in modern times to record 300 major league triumphs.

The 41-year-old Oklahoman registered his 11th victory of the season Friday night and 299th with the Braves, outpitching San Francisco's Mike McCormick 3-2. Outfielder Henry Aaron made the victory possible with a pair of home runs, the first tying the score in the seventh inning and the second breaking the tie in the ninth.

Cincinnati's Reds, leading the league, opened a two-game lead over Los Angeles, defeating Pittsburgh 5-4. The Dodgers dropped a 4-2 decision to the Chicago Cubs. St. Louis outlasted the Philadelphia Phillies 9-8.

New York's Yankees maintained their lead of a game and a half in the American League over Detroit, defeating Minnesota 8-5 in 10 innings while the Tigers were beating the Cleveland Indians 6-1. Kansas City shut out Boston 5-0. Los Angeles' Angels divided a double-header with Baltimore. The Angels won the first game 3-1 and the Orioles took the second 3-0.

Spahn yielded only five hits for his fourth victory in five starts against the Giants this season. Milwaukee now trails the third place Giants by only one game. Aaron's homers were his 28th and 29th of the season.

Frank Robinson, the league's leading home run and RBI man, drove in Cincinnati's winning run with a ninth-inning double.

The pirates had taken a 4-2 lead in the eighth, climaxed by Dick Stuart's 17th home run. The Reds came back with four straight singles to tie the score.

George Altman slammed two homers—his 21st and 22nd—and drove in three runs to lead the Cubs to victory over the Dodgers.

Sandy Koufax was the Dodger starter and loser.

Julian Javier and Jim Schaffer hit two-run doubles to lead the Cards' 12-hit attack against four Philadelphia pitchers. The decisive run, however, was driven in by Stan Musial, who drew a walk as a pinch hitter with the bases loaded in the seventh.

Pro Champs Whip All-Stars 28-14

CHICAGO (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles, bristling from a greeting of boos from the fans, proved their National Football League championship pride Friday night by harpooning the college all-stars 28-14.

They beat a good collegiate football squad after a prolixe probe of its weakness—pass defense.

And the Eagles, boomed by many of the 65,000 fans who trotted onto the rain-soaked sod of Soldier Field, showed their detractors they could do it without the golden arm of Norm Van Brocklin—the quarterback who led them to the NFL crown last year, then quit and became coach of the Minnesota Vikings.

The All-Stars suffered a severe stroke of bad luck during warm-ups before the game, televised and broadcast by ABC. Navy's Joe Bellino, a key man in their strategy of attack, slipped while going down for a pass and pulled a right leg muscle. The All-American halfback, who soon begins a four-year stint in the Navy as an ensign, was to have made his last game a big one. He sat it out on the bench.

Bill Brown (Illinois-Chicago Bears) ran back the opening kickoff 39 yards, and Norm Snead (Wake Forest-Washington Redskins) hit Aaron Thomas (Oregon State-San Francisco 49ers) with a 42-yard pass that went to the Eagles' 12.

It looked as if the All-Stars were primed, but they were pushed back to the 17, and the quickie strike was dead.

Minutes later, the Eagles got the ball on their 20. Sonny Jurgensen, Van Brocklin's understudy, was caught trying to pass. But he flipped the ball behind him like a globetrotter basketball player.

Pete Retzlaff took it for 13 yards. It touched off an 80-yard drive in seven plays, capped by Jurgensen's 27-yard touchdown pass to Tommy McDonald. He was completely in the open.

McDonald snared two more Jurgensen tosses, each for 24 yards, for touchdowns, and Retzlaff took one for 25 yards.

The Eagles led 21-0 at halftime and made it 28-0 with their fourth TD with four minutes left in the game.

Then Bill Kilmer (UCLA-49ers) brought the collegians to life with passes from the short punt, spread formation. In six plays they surged 75 yards. Kilmer capped it with an 18-yard scoring pitch to Glynn Gregory (SMU-Dallas Cowboys).

Then guard Dick Green (Ohio U-Cleveland Browns) intercepted a King Hill pass and lumbered 57 yards for a touchdown.

"Had we scored on that first play, we'd have had them on the run," said All-Star Head Coach Otto Graham. "I'd like to play them again—and on a dry field I think we'd beat them."

Coach Nick Skorich said: "Our guys were concerned about being somewhat downgraded while the stars were being touted, and we went out to justify our championship."

9.4 Million Volumes Issued by Bookmobiles

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A library book total equal to almost one book for each man, woman and child in Ohio was loaned from 90 bookmobiles operating in the state in 1960, State Librarian Walter Brahm said today.

A record 63 million books were loaned by Ohio's libraries during that period, Brahm said, and 9.4 million were checked out from the bookmobiles driven to suburbs, rural areas and other places where few or no library facilities exist.

1. Card of Thanks

I wish to thank everyone for being so nice to me during my stay in Berger Hospital. Dr. Smith, Dr. Alvarez, and Dr. J. M. Hedges, all the wonderful nurses, and aids. For all the lovely cards, and notes of encouragement, the beautiful flowers. To my friends, and neighbors, for their many acts of kindness. My Pastor, Rev. Richard Humble, for his faithfulness, my church and others for the many prayers that were offered in my behalf. To all of you I will be forever grateful.

Sincerely, McCallan Clark, 410 Faye Ave., Circleville.

3 Ohio 11s Get 'Major' Ratings

CHICAGO (AP)—Mid - American Conference powers Ohio University, Miami of Ohio, and Bowling Green have been elevated to major status in college football.

The Football Writers' Association reclassified them at its meeting Friday.

Jerry Liska, Associated Press sports editor in Chicago, was elected president of the writers, succeeding Murray Olderman of Newspaper Enterprise Association. Among new directors is Larry Stolle of the Youngstown (Ohio) Vindicator, for the Middle West.

V. R. (Tennessee) Wright led the nation's thoroughbred trainers with 107 winners during the first six months. He had a 27-win margin over W. Hal Bishop.

TV 9 Dropped From Tourney

River Oil Notches 10-Frame Decision

Singles by DeLong and Jackup combined with three fielding errors broke a nine-inning scoreless deadlock as River Oil plunged Stonerock's TV to a 3-0 defeat in last night's District 8 Softball Tournament at Ted Lewis Park.

Harry Strawser, dean of the TV hurling staff, had limited the Chillicothe invaders to a harmless sixth-frame single by Ramey through nine stanzas.

Speeder Davis doubled with two away in the second for Stonerock's, but couldn't stir a scoring movement. In the sixth Paul Neff singled with two gone for the only other TV safety.

DeLong opened the top of the 10th with a clothes-line one bagger. Conaway moved him to second as Neff failed to haul in a ground-er.

BUNGARDNER popped out but Jackup blasted a run-scoring single and moved on to second as Carl Gulick booted the ball. Ramey went on through a fielder's choice and Gulick's second error put Bell on safely.

A quick piece of defense caught Bell napping a moment later, and he was picked off base to close the inning.

Ramey fanned five and walked not a single man in his marathon victory. Strawser took the loss with 10 strikeouts and just one free hit.

In last night's lid-lifter, Kiser's Market of Yellowbud pummeled Dearth for 11 hits — including a home run by J. Davis — in dropping Hallsville 12-5.

The winners erased a 1-0 Hallsville lead in the top of the third, bringing home three runs on a single, two wild pitches and a pair of errors.

They added three more in the fourth on Davis' homer. In the fifth Davis doubled and four men singled to give the grocers five closing tallies.

Hill was the winning pitcher and Dearth went the distance in defeat.

2 Courses To Be Needed To Handle Ohio Publinx

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — The entry list for next week's Ohio Public Links golf championship exploded to a new high today, and forced officials to schedule the 72-hole medal play classic over two courses.

Jim Allen of Canton, president of the group, said 340 pay-as-you-go club swingers are in the fold, and that 400 might tee off Wednesday when the tournament test starts its three-day program.

The event was originally scheduled at the Elms Club, but as entries poured in the Riceland Country Club at nearby Orrville was added. The huge field will be divided, half playing each course

Wednesday, switching sites Thursday, and the 36-hole marathon finish being slated Friday at the Elms.

The 60 low scorers for the first two days will play the final 36, and the next 60 will play only 18 the final day. At least 90 will slice up the merchandise prize list of more than $2,000.

Firing actually gets under way Monday with a pro-amateur, and 40 quartets (one pro and three amateurs) are early entrants. Tuesday's program calls for an amateur - amateur best ball race at the Riceland layout, with four on each team.

The entry list for the 72-hole tournament originally was set at 300, and many players were shut out by the limitation. Now Allen said, everyone is welcome since the addition of the Riceland course.

Defending champion Art Todd of Columbus, Len Pietras of Toledo and Don Nist of Canton are among the former winners in the field. But the favorite is young Mike Podolski of Columbus, runnerup the last two years and second place in this year's national intercollegiate and state amateur championships.

In addition to the individual championship, a four - man team and a seniors title will be decided. The teams, each representing a city, will vie for the Toledo Blade plaque over 36 holes, and the seniors — those who reached their 50th birthday before last Jan. 1 — will travel the same route.

Larry Osborne, Detroit Tiger reserve first baseman, is the son of Ernest (Tiny) Osborne who pitched for the Cubs from 1922 to 1925.

3 Ohio 11s Get
'Major' Ratings

CHICAGO (AP)—Mid-American Conference powers Ohio University, Miami of Ohio, and Bowling Green have been elevated to major status in college football.

The Football Writers' Association reclassified them at its meeting Friday.

Jerry Liska, Associated Press sports editor in Chicago, was elected president of the writers, succeeding Murray Olderman of Newspaper Enterprise Association.

Among new youngsters is Larry Stolle of the Youngstown (Ohio) Vindicator, for the Middle West.

V. R. (Tennessee) Wright led the nation's thoroughbred trainers with 107 winners during the first six months. He had a 27-win margin over W. Hal Bishop.

River Oil Notches
10-Frame Decision

Singles by DeLong and Jackup combined with three fielding errors broke a nine-inning scoreless deadlock as River Oil plumped Stonerock's TV to a 3-0 defeat in last night's District 8 Softball Tournament at Ted Lewis Park.

Harry Strawser, dean of the TV hurling staff, had limited the Chillicothe invaders to a harmless sixth-frame single by Ramey through nine stanzas.

Speeder Davis doubled with two away in the second for Stonerock's, but couldn't stir a scoring movement. In the sixth Paul Neff singled with two gone for the only other TV safety.

DeLong opened the top of the 10th with a clothes-line one bagger. Conaway moved him to second as Neff failed to haul in a ground-er.

BUNGARDNER popped out but Jackup blasted a run-scoring single and moved on to second as Carl Gulick booted the ball. Ramey went on through a fielder's choice and Gulick's second error put Bell on safely.

A quick piece of defense caught Bell napping a moment later, and he was picked off base to close the inning.

Ramey fanned five and walked not a single man in his marathon victory. Strawser took the loss with 10 strikeouts and just one free time.

In last night's lid-lifter, Kiser's Market of Yellowbud pummeled Dearth for 11 hits — including a home run by J. Davis — in dropping Hallsville 12-5.

The winners erased a 1-0 Hallsville lead in the top of the third, bringing home three runs on a single, two wild pitches and a pair of errors.

They added three more in the fourth on Davis' homer. In the fifth Davis doubled and four men singled to give the grocers five closing tallies.

Hill was the winning pitcher and Dearth went the distance in defeat.

GAY TIME — Shirley Jones sings the title song of "Pepe" to international favorite Cantinflas in a scene from "Pepe", which starts Sunday for four days at the Grand Theater.

Kennedy, Stevenson Review American Strategy in U.N.

HYANNS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy and Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson sat down today for a point-by-point review of U.S. strategy in the upcoming General Assembly of the United Nations.

Their conference is expected to last for many hours.

Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, will remain overnight as Kennedy's guest at the Cape Cod summer White House.

Also on hand is Harlan Cleveland, assistant secretary of state for international organization affairs, who flew from the capital with Kennedy late Friday and is spending the week end at nearby Harwichport.

Stevenson gave Kennedy a preliminary report Thursday on his recent trip to Europe, during which he conferred with French President Charles de Gaulle, among others.

While the discussion between Kennedy and Stevenson was billed in advance as dealing with all the problems expected to come before the U.N. General Assembly next month, Germany and divided Berlin presumably will be in for paramount attention.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev told the Western powers Friday he is ready to negotiate a settlement of the future of Germany and Berlin. But he advanced no specific proposals.

Assistant White House press secretary Andrew T. Hatcher said there would be "no comment at this time" on the Soviet note.

Hatcher said he doubted there would be any comment over the weekend.

Germany and Berlin, however, had no monopoly in the Kennedy-Stevenson talks.

Problems expected to come before the U.N. assembly cover virtually the whole field of U.S. foreign policy.

They include the Tunisian crisis, how to deal with Red China's bid for admission to the United Nations, and the package deal which would admit both Outer Mongolia and Mauretania.

Vice President Chen Cheng of Nationalist China served notice during his visit to Washington this week that his country is determined to veto both Red China and Mauretania.

Richard Stinson, New Holland, has been dismissed from Chillicothe Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferral Manson, Route 1, Amanda, are the parents of a son born Sunday at Doctor's Hospital, Columbus.

Mrs. James Hall and son, James Michael, New Holland, have been dismissed from Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Robert Donohoe, New Holland, has been dismissed from Fayette Memorial Hospital, Washington, C. H.

Saddle Winner Scheduled for Ohio State Fair

Mary Claire Short will represent Pickaway County's 4-H riders in the Ohio State Fair later this month in Columbus after finishing first in the championship saddle class of the seventh annual 4-H Colt and Equitation Club horse show yesterday at the Fair.

In addition to the state Fair invitation, Miss Short received a trophy donated by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Adkins. Ribbons for the show were donated by the Atlantic Grain Co. and The Savings Bank.

Diana Ankrom placed second in the championship class. Leola Harmon was third, Martha Rogers, fourth, Melinda Rickelman, fifth and Tommy Ebenhack, sixth.

Other show results were: BROODMARE (class No. 1) — Jim Fogle, Tommy Ebenhack, Connie Dunkle and Myron Garrison.

WEANLING COLT (class No. 2) — Tommy Ebenhack, Jim Fogle and Connie Dunkle.

YEARLING COLT (class No. 3) — Brad Dunkle and Linda Steck.

NOVICE SADDLESEAT (class No. 5) — Tommy Ebenhack, Martha Rogers, Susan Bennett and Debra Ankrom.

ADVANCED SADDLESEAT (class No. 6) — Diana Ankrom, Mary Claire Short, Leola Harmon and Melinda Rickelman.

Mary Claire Short and Diana Ankrom combined to win first place in the senior 4-H demonstration class. Their subject was "Preparing a Horse for Show". The two girls will present their demonstration again at the State Fair.

Leola Harmon won the individual demonstration classification with a representation of "How to Buy a Horse". She will be in competition at the All-Ohio exposition in the junior division, Susan Bennett and Martha Rogers finished first with their demonstration of "Proper Bridal Adjustment."

Khrush Says JFK Heeds 'Shouters'

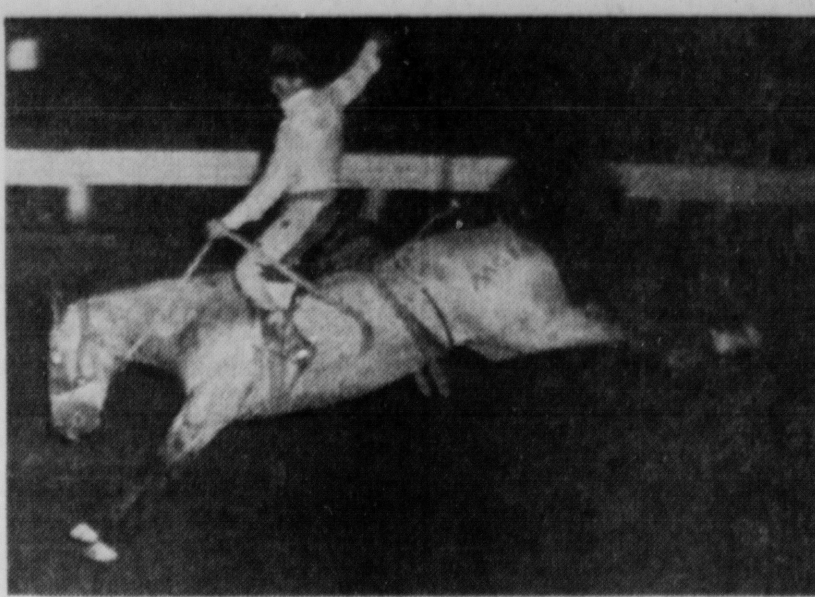

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev thinks President Kennedy is a complex man who listens to the loudest shouters.

This thumbnail estimate came out during Khrushchev's talks this week with visiting Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani.

The Soviet premier said he felt Kennedy's attitude on the Berlin situation was not actually as strong as the position Kennedy took on his recent speech.

Khrushchev's reply was that he considers Kennedy complex — more complex than the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. He did not elaborate.

He added that in the United States everybody shouted and the man who shouts loudest wins. And Kennedy, he told Fanfani, then listens to the loudest.

Fishing Reel Stolen

John Magill, manager of the Western Auto Store, W. Main St., told Circleville Police yesterday that a fishing reel was taken from the store during the morning. Magill said that the spinner-type reel was valued at $17.50.

Oxygen used in the steel industry has increased in the last 10 years from 127 cubic feet per ton of steel to 550 cubic feet per ton, says Steelways, magazine of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

GAY TIME — Shirley Jones sings the title song of "Pepe" to international favorite Cantinflas in a scene from "Pepe", which starts Sunday for four days at the Grand Theater.

Kennedy, Stevenson Review American Strategy in U.N.

HYANNS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy and Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson sat down today for a point-by-point review of U.S. strategy in the upcoming General Assembly of the United Nations.

Their conference is expected to last for many hours.

Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, will remain overnight as Kennedy's guest at the Cape Cod summer White House.

Also on hand is Harlan Cleveland, assistant secretary of state for international organization affairs, who flew from the capital with Kennedy late Friday and is spending the week end at nearby Harwichport.

Stevenson gave Kennedy a preliminary report Thursday on his recent trip to Europe, during which he conferred with French President Charles de Gaulle, among others.

While the discussion between Kennedy and Stevenson was billed in advance as dealing with all the problems expected to come before the U.N. General Assembly next month, Germany and divided Berlin presumably will be in for paramount attention.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev told the Western powers Friday he is ready to negotiate a settlement of the future of Germany and Berlin. But he advanced no specific proposals.

Assistant White House press secretary Andrew T. Hatcher said there would be "no comment at this time" on the Soviet note.

Hatcher said he doubted there would be any comment over the weekend.

Germany and Berlin, however, had no monopoly in the Kennedy-Stevenson talks.

Problems expected to come before the U.N. assembly cover virtually the whole field of U.S. foreign policy.

They include the Tunisian crisis, how to deal with Red China's bid for admission to the United Nations, and the package deal which would admit both Outer Mongolia and Mauretania.

Vice President Chen Cheng of Nationalist China served notice during his visit to Washington this week that his country is determined to veto both Red China and Mauretania.

Saddle Winner Scheduled for Ohio State Fair

Mary Claire Short will represent Pickaway County's 4-H riders in the Ohio State Fair later this month in Columbus after finishing first in the championship saddle class of the seventh annual 4-H Colt and Equitation Club horse show yesterday at the Fair.

In addition to the state Fair invitation, Miss Short received a trophy donated by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Adkins. Ribbons for the show were donated by the Atlanta Grain Co. and The Savings Bank.

Diana Ankrom placed second in the championship class. Leola Harmon was third, Martha Rogers, fourth, Melinda Rickelman, fifth and Tommy Ebenhack, sixth.

Other show results were: BROODMARE (class No. 1) — Jim Fogle, Tommy Ebenhack, Connie Dunkle and Myron Garrison;

WEANLING COLT (class No. 2) — Tommy Ebenhack, Jim Fogle and Connie Dunkle;

YEARLING COLT (class No. 3) — Brad Dunkle and Linda Steck; NOVICE SADDLESEAT (class No. 5) — Tommy Ebenhack, Martha Rogers, Susan Bennett and Debra Ankrom;

ADVANCED SADDLESEAT — (class No. 6) — Diana Ankrom, Mary Claire Short, Leola Harmon and Melinda Rickelman.

Mary Claire Short and Diana Ankrom combined to win first place in the senior 4-H demonstration class. Their subject was "Preparing a Horse for Show". The two girls will present their demonstration again at the State Fair.

Leola Harmon won the individual demonstration classification with a representation of "How to Buy a Horse". She will be in competition at the All-Ohio exposition in the junior division. Susan Bennett and Martha Rogers finished first with their demonstration of "Proper Bridal Adjustment."

Khrush Says JFK Heeds 'Shouters'

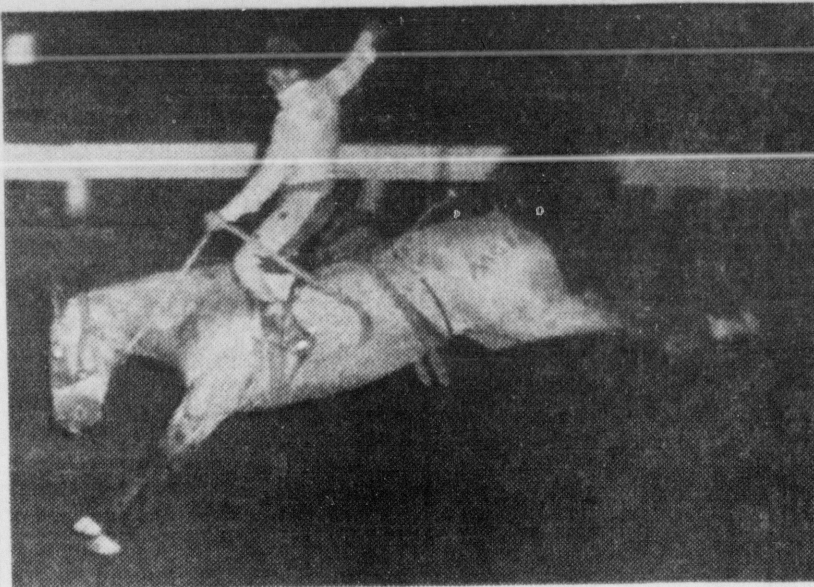

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev thinks President Kennedy is a complex man who listens to the loudest shouters.

This thumbnail estimate came out during Khrushchev's talks this week with visiting Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani.

The Soviet premier said he felt Kennedy's attitude on the Berlin situation was not actually as strong as the position Kennedy took on his recent speech.

Khrushchev's reply was that he considers Kennedy complex — more complex than the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

He added that in the United States everybody shouted and the man who shouts loudest wins. And Kennedy, he told Fanfani, then listens to the loudest.
